We will always provide you with an alternative price if you wish to compare costs and will always endeavour to find the best possible price for you where we are reasonably able to do so.

Barrister Fees vary according to case types, venues for hearings and preparation time therefore these need to be taken into consideration when you receive your estimate for representation. We will be able to obtain an estimate of the barrister's fee when you contact us.

Where the fee quoted is a fixed fee, it is on the basis that the matter does not become unnecessarily complicated or protracted in which case we reserve the right to charge a further fee.

The fixed fees include:

- our initial advice and discussing your circumstances in detail and confirming whether this is the most appropriate application for you to make and what other options may be available to you;
- the advice on the documents and information required and consideration of this evidence and documents whilst preparing your case.
- preparation and filing of the work you require and correspondence with the Home Office or Tribunals until the decision on the application or appeal is made.
- considering the supporting evidence you have provided and where necessary, helping you obtain further evidence (such as medical records and bank statements), including taking statements of any witnesses;
- preparing your application and submitting it on your behalf;
- giving you advice about the outcome of the application/appeal.
